BARRETT POND

(Carver)

General Information:

This natural, 16-acre, warm water pond has an average depth of six feet and a maximum depth of 17 feet. The bottom is primarily muck and sand and the shoreline is undeveloped except for a campground area. The pond is located in South Carver within the southern section of the Myles Standish State Forest, less than half a mile north of the forest headquarters. Access is available off Lower College Pond Road and is suitable only for car top boats or canoes. Electric motors only.

Fish Populations:

This pond has been stocked with many species during its management history, and was reclaimed twice during the 1950s. A survey conducted in 1965 found largemouth bass, golden shiner, pumpkinseed sunfish and brown bullhead. A 1993 survey also found chain pickerel and yellow perch.

Fishing:

Barrett Pond can be expected to yield pumpkinseed sunfish, brown bullhead, largemouth bass and chain pickerel. One advantage to fishing this area is that Myles Standish State Forest contains numerous other freshwater ponds, and several can be fished in a single day. These include Charge Pond, College Pond, Curlew Pond, East Head Reservoir, Fearings Pond and Widgeon Pond.
